

Rob Hogendoorn is the founding and Lead Pastor of Forest City Community Church in London, Ontario. Rob's passion is to help churches grow in their ability to engage pre-Christian people with the hope of the gospel! Along with pastoring, he also serves on the GLN Canada board and is a partner with Alpha Canada.

Title: The Moment we Find Ourselves In
40:53 Minutes

TEAM DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Q1: "There is a battle right now in our land and the battle is to embrace and accept our role as the church in introducing those who do not know Him, to know Him" In your context, How have you approached this in an actionable way? Are there new ways you can be doing this?

Q2: There are moments and opportunities in our lives that we are presented with, where we can take the simple step of introducing someone to who He is. That introduction has the power to change someone's life. How are we equipping those in our leadership to embrace these opportunities, care enough and focus enough to make that introduction for others?

Q3: There's a growing hopelessness happening in our country. Hopelessness and despair come into our thoughts, through avenues like social media which often portrays "we are less than.." Part of our calling, as Christian leaders is to step into the battle and to bring hope. How can you and your team be better "dealers of hope"?

ACTION STEPS

"God is in control, you are not alone in it. He still needs you in the game." This is a phrase that so many of those in positions of leadership need to be reminded of. Take a moment to encourage your team and pray for one another, reminding them of who holds them in the midst of their calling.